Subject of Review: This report provides 2018 estimates of the economic burden of the 15 leading 5 foodborne pathogens. These selected pathogens together account for over 95 percent of the 49.6 million cases of foodborne illnesses that occur each year in the United States. ERS estimates of the economic burden of these foodborne diseases include: the costs of medical care; the value of lost productivity due to illness-induced absence for jobs; and the value of the loss of statistical lives lost due to premature deaths from foodborne illness.

Purpose of Review: The purpose of the review is to ensure the high-quality of the economic analysis, transparent explanation of methods, objective interpretation of results, and effective communication to the intended audience.
